Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 27 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy start with showers becoming widespread.

Today:
It will be a cloudy start with isolated fog patches. Scattered, heavy possibly thundery showers becoming more widespread throughout the day. A few brighter spells developing, although becoming breezier too. Feeling cooler for many. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers ease during the evening leaving some clear spells. Further scattered showers are possible overnight moving in from the west. Feeling cooler. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Wednesday:
Some bright or sunny spells, although plenty of showers, some heavy and possibly thundery. Feeling cool in the breeze, which will be strong in some coastal areas. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Some more persistent rain will develop during Thursday afternoon. Sunny spells and potentially thundery showers on Friday. Sunny spells with occasional showers on Saturday. Temperatures feeling rather cool throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.